THREE INSTRUCTORS IN HOME EC DEPT. RESIGN

Department Cannot Expand As Now Arranged, According to Teachers

The resignations of Miss Mary E. Sweeney, head of the department of Home Economics, Miss Maybelle Cornell, professor of textiles and clothing, and Miss Marietta Eichelberger, professor of foods and nutrition, all of the Home Economics Department of the College of Agriculture, were placed in the hands of Thomas P. Cooper, dean of the college, Wednesday, April 23, to be effective at the end of the present semester.

The instructors feel that the policies of the University have prevented the department from expanding as it should and that their resignations were for the good of Home Economics and the University. According to Miss Sweeney, this condition is prevalent in institutions throughout the country and that "it simply came to a head here."

Miss Sweeney, a native of Lexington, was for two years President of the American Home Economics Association and has served as executive secretary of the Association. She has been head of the department of the University for a number of years. In 1918, Miss Sweeney resigned to serve with the Red Cross overseas and upon her return was again elected head of the department. In 1920 she resigned to become head of the department at the University of Michigan, returning here last September.

Miss Cornell has been connected with the University for the past five years, during which time she has served as the head of the department. She was formerly President of the State

K. E. A. DRAWS BIG CROWD

More Than 300 Present at Alumni Banquet at Seelbach Hotel

The Alumni Association was well represented at the Kentucky Educational Association convention held in Louisville last week. From every section of the State members of the Alumni Association and former students of the University were present.

The Alumni Association banquet, held Thursday night at the Seelbach hotel in the main dining room, was attended by 330 persons, of which at least 275 were former students and alumni.

W. C. Wilson, Alumni Secretary, presided as toastmaster of the banquet. Governor William J. Fields and President McVey were among the speakers. In a few words Governor Fields outlined his plans for assisting the educational institutions of the state and expressed hopes that the $75,000,000 bond issue would bring the some of the help so badly needed.

Dr. McVey preceded Governor Fields with an address in which he stated that the programs of the University could only mean the progress of education as whole in the state—the growth and expansion of the grade schools, the high schools, normal schools and sectarian colleges must inevitably follow that of the University.

A particular pleasing feature of the banquet was the fact that practically every college and normal school in the state was represented. Members of the faculties of the four normal schools were present and the interest generally shown makes it apparent that the other institutions of the state were never more friendly towards the University than at the present time.

In an effort to present the different phases of activities at the University several of the campus organizations were asked to take part in the entertainment at the banquet.

R. L. Porter, member of the Student Speakers' Bureau, was on the program for an address. Tom Young and Wickliffe Moore, both seniors, were on the program for a blackboard sketching act and Moore entertained the guests with some original card tricks. Members of the University Glee Club were also on the program for some musical selections.

The Alumni headquarters were maintained in the Watterson Hotel on the mezzanine floor and more than 50 alumni registered. A much larger number were at the convention but with characteristic Kentucky indifference they did not take the trouble of coming around and registering.

KENTUCKY HOME-COMING

It is now only about six weeks until the opening of the Kentucky Home Coming, which opens at Louisville, Monday, June 16, 1924. The home coming this year will be in accordance with the plan inaugurated a number of years ago to have the sons and daughters of the Blue Grass State return once every ten years in a body and renew their acquaintances with the home folks.

A great mailing list is being prepared and invitations will be sent to every former resident of the state urging him or her to come to Kentucky during the celebration. A big parade will be held in Louisville during the homecoming week and also a barbecue. Later while they are here the natives will all go to their home towns and pay their first friends a visit.

Among the notable Kentuckians expected to be in Louisville during the home coming week is Maj. General Henry T. Allen, formerly of Sharpshooter. In a recent visit to Kentucky General Allen promised the people that he would be in Kentucky at that time. He has also promised to be in Lexington during the month of June when a smaller celebration will be given here.

The alumni of Old State are practically all Kentuckians and have by that a stronger attachment to Kentucky than those who were only born in the state. Why not come to the campus homecoming the first of June and remain over for the later celebration while here. Don't lose connections with your old home. Come on down and hang around a while this summer.

The Detroit and Buffalo Clubs are working enthusiastically to be represented at the homecoming. In Detroit the committee is headed by that old pep generator, Charles Plank, while in Buffalo the staunch advocates of homecoming are led by Dr. Phil Blumenthal.

HIGH SCHOOLS CONTRIBUTE

A gift of approximately $3,000 to the basketball building fund was made last week at the election and meeting of the High School Athletic Association held in Louisville while the K. E. A. was in session. Prof. M. E. Ligon, of the University, was re-elected president of the association for this year.

The nature of the gift is such that the association will pay no money to the Greater Kentucky Fund, yet the fund will be benefited to the extent of $3,000. The University athletic committee has charge of funds collected from the high school basketball tournament. The committee was considering the policy of paying part of this back to the high school association to help pay the railroad fare of the teams but at the meeting the high school officials voted to give the money to the Greater Kentucky Fund for the purpose of finishing the basketball building.

The University authorities and friends of the University are very much pleased with this friendly action on the part of the high schools of the state.

MORE GIFTS RECEIVED

Last week the Alumni Secretary sent out a circular letter to all former students and Alumni who had not contributed to the Greater Kentucky fund at that time. On the head of the letter there was a picture of the new basketball building. Perhaps you may have received one of the letters, for a letter was also mailed to every member of the Alumni Association at the same time.

The response to the letters has been very gratifying for already practically $600 has been received from those to whom the letters were written. It seems that some of the people were just a little afraid that the basketball building and stadium would not be built and naturally thinking this would not contribute. The Alumni Association is proud to be able to point out the new building as something that has been done. Yesterday bids were opened for the first six sections of the stadium and it is expected that work will soon begin. Look out for another letter with two pictures on it this time.

SERIOUS QUESTIONS

I have seen a woman who was absolutely ignorant of her children's habit of thought, who never felt that she could spare a half hour to read or talk to them; I have seen this woman spend ten minutes in ironing a sheet—there were six in the washings; one hour in fluting the ruffles and arranging the puffs and her little girl's "sweet white suit;" thirty minutes in polishing tins which were already bright and clean; forty minutes in frosting and decorating a cake for tea, because "company" was expected.

When the mother—a good orthodox Christian—shall appear before the Great White Throne, to be judged for "the deeds done in the body," and to give in her report of the Master's treasures placed in her care—there will be questions and answers like these:

"Where are the boys and girls I gave thee?"

"Lord, I was busy keeping my house clean and in order, and my children wandered away."

"Where wert thou while thy sons and thy daughters were learning lessons of dishonesty, malice and impurity?"

"Lord, I was polishing furniture and ruffling dresses, and making beautiful rugs."

"What hast thou to show for thy life work?"

"The tidiest house, Lord, and the best starching and ironing in our neighborhood!"

—Harriet M. Morris.

ALL AT SEA

A girl at a public library inquired if "The Red Boat" was in.

"I don't think we have the book, she was told.

"Oh excuse me, said the girl. I made a mistake. The title is "Scarlet Launch."

After a search the library assistant reported that no book with that title was listed in the card catalog.

But I am sure you have the book, the girl insisted. Suddenly she opened her handbag and produced a slip of paper on which something was written. Then she blushed. Oh, I beg your pardon, she said, it's "It's the Ruby Yacht," by a man named Omar, I want.—Boston Transcript.

WOMEN HEAR LECTURES ON VOCATIONAL WORK

Excused From Classes Monday For Conference and Meetings

All women students were excused from classes Monday, April 28, to attend the Vocational Guidance Conference which was held in the University Chapel. Women who are prominently nationally in various vocations delivered addresses. Vocational Guidance Day for women has become an established custom on the campus, this being the second annual conference.

Mrs. Frank L. McVey opened the conference at 9:30 with an address on "Women of Today in Professional Life." Mrs. Barbara Bartlett, of the University of Michigan, spoke on "Health Service as a Profession for Women;" Miss Louise Fitzgerald, director of the National Dairy Council at Chicago, on "Home Economics in Business;" Miss Marjorie Warren, director of the School of Social Service at Louisville, on "The Field of Social Service for Women," and Miss Mary Scragham, of Lexington, on "Women in Politics."

The speakers were guests of honor at a luncheon at Patterson Hall to which faculty and students were invited. Conferences with the various speakers were held from 2 to 3 in the afternoon. A large number of students took advantage of the opportunity to meet the speakers in these discussions. During the hour from 3:30 to 4:30, the speakers were taken on a drive through the Blue Grass by members of the Women's League. The Home Economics Department entertained the guests, faculty and students at tea at the University Practice House from 4:30 to 6:00. In the receiving line were Mrs. McVey, Mrs. Bartlett, Miss Fitzgerald, Miss Warren, Miss Scragham, Miss Mary Sweeney and Miss Sarah Blanding. Mrs. Giles, director of residence halls, presided at the tea-table.

PERFECT OBEDIENCE

"To obey is better than sacrifice"—1 Sam. 15:22.

A story is told of a captain who, after a battle, was talking over the events of the day with his officers. He asked them who had done the best that day. Some spoke of one man who had fought very bravely, and some of another. "No," he said, "you are all mistaken. The best man in the field today was a soldier who was just lifting up his arm to strike an enemy; but, when he heard the trumpet sound a retreat he checked himself, and dropped his arm without striking the blow. That perfect and ready obedience to the will of his general is the noblest thing that has been done today."

Squire—Did you send for me, my lord?

WELCOME, VISITORS

The Kernel takes this opportunity to welcome the high school students of the State as guests of the University. In promoting the track meet and tournament, the University is endeavoring to establish closer relations with the educational institutions of the State and to give their students a better insight of University life.

The Kernel wishes to bespeak the hearty goodwill and welcome of the officials and student body of the University. The school is taking great interest in the outcome of the track meet and of the debates and discussion groups.

It wants every visitor to make himself completely at home.

Every student of the University is glad to do anything to add to the comfort of the visitors. They will gladly give directions or answer any questions asked. So do not hesitate to ask any Kentucky man or woman for information.

"Just make yourselves at home."

SPRING

With the coming of the birdies, the bursting of the buds and all that sort of thing—not to forget the wanderings of a young man's fancies—spring is here. The campus has assumed her new spring coat of green, signifying that Nature has awakened. Our thoughts revert to the of 'swimming' hole, with its joys and its stonebruses.

Spring on the campus brings a feeling of restlessness which is in compatible with the proper execution of school work. "Spring fever" is again an epidemic among the students.

Inasmuch as there is only a month more of class work, let us endeavor to at least give a little attention to school work. And then, oh, boy, Vacation!

"Is there no hope for my husband?"
"Go on Madame."
"Is there no hope doctor?"
"That depends, madame on what you are hoping for" said the doctor, reaching for his hat.

GLEE CLUB SCORES BIG IN LOUISVILLE AT K.E.A.

Sing at Alumni Banquet, Over Radio and at General Sessions of Meet

At a meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association, which was held in Louisville April 23 to 26, the annual Alumni Banquet of the University of Kentucky was given April 24, at the Seelbach Hotel. The principal feature of this banquet was the University Glee Club, which gave a beautiful concert during the evening.

Three hundred and twenty-nine guests were present, and enthusiastically received the Glee Club, giving them credit for making this one of the most successful banquets ever given by the Alumni Association. Among the guests at this banquet were College Presidents from all over Kentucky, all of the staff of the State Department of Education, City and County Superintendents of Schools, and Teachers of Smith-Hughes Agriculture in the State, Alumni faculty and students of the University. President McVey received a number of compliments upon the Glee Club, and requests that they attend the banquet next year.

The evening of April 24, the Glee Club appeared at the radio broadcasting station of the Courier-Journal and gave a concert. A number of telegrams were received from people all over Kentucky, congratulating them on the program rendered.

Friday morning, April 25, the Glee Club appeared on the general program of the Kentucky Educational Association, and gave a concert before 2,500 people. The musical program rendered was of very high character, very classical and reflected much credit on the University, and also on Professor Carl Lampert, the able director, and upon the members of the Glee Club. Those in charge of K. E. A. gave much of the credit of a successful meeting to the University Glee Club.

versity campus and will go down Limestone Street to Maxwell, across Maxwell to Rose Street, thence to East Main Street and on Main to Broadway. The parade will then go up North Broadway to Third Street, across Third to Limestone and return out Limestone to the campus. The band in special costume will march at the head of the parade. The float with the May Queen and her attendants will be at the head of the floats.

When the parade returns to the campus there will be a community singing service. This will be followed immediately by the class day moving exercises, conducted by the Senior class officers. The Seniors will be welcomed into the alumni section by Mr. William Townsend.

Following these exercises the Lamp and Cross, Senior men's honorary fraternity, and the Mortar Board, Senior women's honorary fraternity, will hold their pledge services.

The May Queen will then be crowned, followed by the Maypole Dance given by the girls of the gymnasium classes.

As a fitting climax to this day of festivities, there will be Spring Carnival Gingham dance in the new Basketball Building from 9 to 12 p. m. This will be the first dance to be given in the new building and it is looked forward to with great expectation.

Should weather conditions be such that these exercises can not be held outdoors, they will be held in the new Basketball Building.

ANNUAL BEAUTY CONTEST WINNER ELECTED QUEEN OF MAY DAY FESTIVAL

Coronation Will Take Place on the Campus Friday,
May 2

ANNE SHROPSHIRE QUEEN

Queen's Court Splendid Representation of Kentucky's Best

Miss Anne Shropshire, of Versailles, was elected Queen of the May at an election held last Tuesday, April 29, by the men students of the University of Kentucky. Miss Grace Davis, of Lexington, who received the second highest number of votes, was chosen her maid of honor. Misses Virginia Seay, Ava Cawood, Mary Whitfield, Louise McCormick and Louise Atkins, who were next in order in the voting, were selected to comprise the queen's court. The coronation will take place on the campus, Friday, May 2, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Shropshire, a member of the Chi Omega sorority, is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences. She was voted the most beautiful girl in the University in the annual beauty contest held last fall.

Miss Davis is also a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences and has been very prominent in campus activities the two years that she has been in college. As a freshman, she became a Stroller eligible, taking part in "Fancy Free," one of the three plays repeated on Amateur Night. She is a major sponsor of the Second Battalion, and a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Miss Seay, who took third place, will graduate from the University in June with the A. B. degree. She is active in the various campus organizations. Misses Cawood and McCormick are members of the Kappa Delta Sorority. Miss Whitfield is a member of Chi Omega sorority and Miss Atkins is a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

PRIZE TO BE GIVEN FOR BEST COLLEGIATE PLAY

Manuscripts Must Be Submitted
Not Later Than
May 30

For the purpose of fostering keener interest in the writing of one-act plays, Milton Hockley and Howard J. Green, producers for the high class vaudeville theatres, are offering a prize in addition to royalty for the best playlet submitted to them, under the following conditions:

The author must be an undergraduate of an American university.

The playlet should be written with practical vaudeville production in mind. That is, a manuscript calling for an exceptionally large cast or an exceptionally high production expense would not be likely to receive consideration for the prize. The manuscript must also be written with a view of keeping the "running time" of the playlet within a limit that is practical for vaudeville's purpose, that is fifteen to twenty-five minutes.

To say that originality in theme and treatment will be an important consideration in judging the winning manuscript is rather bromidic, but nevertheless true. Novelty in subject matter and presentation is an important factor in vaudeville production.

The winning contestant shall receive a prize of $250 which shall be payable simultaneously with the appearance of an advertisement announcing the winner in the July issue of "Variety," which is the representative trade paper of vaudeville.

The producers guarantee that the manuscript will receive production and will pay the writer of $50 every week that the playlet appears.

The judges of the contest will be: John Pollock, playreader for the B. F. Keith and Orpheum Circuits; Edgar Alan Woolf, foremost writer of vaudeville sketches; Milton Hockley and Howard J. Green, vaudeville producers. The decision of the judges shall be considered final.

Manuscripts must be mailed not later than May 30, 1924. The manuscript should contain the name and the permanent address of the sender, also the name of the college that the writer attends.

The manuscript will not be returned to sender unless accompanied by a stamped self-addressed envelope.

The producers shall own 50 per cent of all possible foreign rights and moving picture rights that may accrue from the playlet and shall possess sole vaudeville production rights to it.

All manuscripts should be addressed to the Intercollegiate Prize Playlet Committee, care Hockley & Green, 110 West 47th street, New York City, and the sending of all manuscripts shall be considered as an acceptance of the above rules by the sender.

It is hoped that the offer of this prize will encourage college men and women to write one-act plays, and if the project is successful, as we have every right to expect it will be, we shall be pleased to make the Intercollegiate Prize Playlet Contest an annual event.

WHY NOT?

The Boy Scouts of Lexington Friday took charge of the city government. All day they will direct traffic, hear cases of traffic violations and will impose punishment. In this manner they will receive early training in executive capacity.

The Kernel offers this suggestion for what it is worth. Would it not be a good plan for the students of the Junior and Senior classes to take charge of the executives and class work for one day? There is a possibility that they could do not better than they authorities now in charge, but they would at least get an insight into the tremendous amount of energy and thought required to run such an institution. They would perhaps afterward have a more sympathetic attitude toward the men and women who have charge of the workings of the institution.

KENTUCKY TRACK MEN ENTER S. I. C. TOURNEY

Best Team in History of School to Go to Montgomery, Alabama

May 10 the University of Kentucky track squad will participate in the annual Southern Conference Championship track meet to be held at Montgomery, Alabama.

That Kentucky is represented this year by one of the best teams in her history is a well known fact. Coach George Buchheit has moulded a well-balanced aggregation from some of the best cinder artists in the state.

With a splendid showing made in indoor meets at Cincinnati and Louisville against the best in the nation, and two dual victories by overwhelming scores over such worthy rivals as Vanderbilt and Tennessee, need any Wildcat supporter feel that Kentucky does not possess a team of merit?

The competition at Montgomery will be furnished by some of the best trackmen in the south with such men from Kentucky as Captain Nantz and Tracy in the sprints, Hall in the middle distance runs and Miller in the quarter-mile. Added to these stars are Brady in the pole vault and Hughes in high and broad jumps. Each of the above mentioned men has made creditable time and distances in his respective events. There are also several other consistent men on the Wildcat cinder squad who are expected to spring a surprise at any moment.

ENGINEERS GET WRIT^{UP} IN LARKIN PUBLICATION

Desire the Party to Include Buffalo in its Tours Every Spring

The Buffalo Alumni Club of the University writes us that the Senior Engineers visited them during their annual spring inspection trip. They enclosed a small weekly which is published by the Larkin Company, whose plant the Engineers visited, in which the Engineers' visit is featured. The clipping from the publication follows: "A collegiate atmosphere pervaded the 'campus' of Larkin Company on Tuesday when about one hundred students of the senior class of the College of Engineering and the Department of Chemistry of the University of Kentucky dropped in to look us over.

"The students are making an Eastern inspection trip for a week, visiting Pittsburgh, Niagara Falls and Buffalo to study the various manufacturing processes in the industrial establishments most prominent in those communities. A group from the Southern institution made a similar trip last year and were so impressed with the courtesy shown them at Larkin Company, and the splendid opportunity for studying engineering and chemical procedure, that they came back again this year. The party was in charge of professors W. E. Freeman, J. B. Dicker, K. O'Bannon and N. Bedford.

"The party was welcomed in the Auditorium by Mr. H. E. Puffer. The students then made a special factory trip and were accompanied by Mr. K. D. Haynes of the Audit Department, an alumnus of the University. The students were taken through the departments which are not ordinarily shown to visitors in order to make a more detailed study of certain manufacturing conditions. As they passed through the various departments, special information was given them by the departmental managers. The students interested in industrial chemistry were given a talk in the Research Laboratory by Mr. Hoyt.

"The party filled in the time between the completion of the factory trip and the luncheon provided by Larkin Company, with a 'song fest' in the City Sales. Larkin Company is always happy to entertain groups from educational institutions and it is hoped that the authorities in the 'Blue Grass' University will continue to route their spring trip through Buffalo and pay us an annual visit.

"Mr. T. R. Anderson who is doing special sales work for Larkin Company is, likewise, an alumnus." Taken from "Ourselves."

SENIOR HISTORIANS WILL LEAVE FUND FOR PRIZES

The Seniors majority in History, class of '24, University of Kentucky, are leaving a prize to be given each year as a memorial of the class. A cash prize is to be given to the student who writes the best essay on Kentucky History.

The funds are to be given by the History Club graduating from the department this year. Each student will give ten dollars to start the fund. The prize will be given in gold at the graduating exercises of the class to which the student belong. The History Club feels that this will promote better work in the study of History, and will also cause the study of Kentucky to be foremost in the student's mind.

STUDENTS OF HOME EC. INSPECT IN LOUISVILLE

Hear One of the Founders of Their Department Lecture at K. E. A.

Fourteen students, members of the Cateria and Marketing Class, under the supervision of Miss Kohl, director the University of Kentucky Cafeteria, attended the K. E. A. meeting held in Louisville Thursday. The party left Lexington at 6 a. m., arriving in Louisville at 10:45 a. m. They made the trip especially to hear Miss Bevier, one of the best known Home Economics workers in the United States, who was scheduled as one of the speakers.

During the morning the class visited the Louisville Wholesale Grocery and also the Atherton High School for girls which has just been completed and is considered the finest in the south. They were taken through the Cafeteria by the principal, Mrs. Woerner who, during one of the past summer sessions, was Dean of Women at the University of Kentucky.

During the afternoon, the girls were given the privilege of inspecting the kitchen at the Brown Hotel. At 4 o'clock they heard the lecture delivered by Miss Bevier, who was formerly a member of the faculty of Illinois University. At present she is located in California.

Having been one of the founders of Home Economics, Miss Bevier was asked to lecture on the responsibilities of the Home Economics teacher, but she declined, stating that too much was involved in such a subject. She chose no title for her discourse saying that she would just give a talk. In addition to her many other achievements, Miss Bevier has written several books on Home Economic subjects.

EDUCATORS ATTEND UNIVERSITY BANQUET

Object of Affair is to Promote Educational Interests of State

One of the bright spots in the meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association at Louisville, just closed, was the University of Kentucky banquet, held at the Hotel Seelbach on Thursday evening, April 24. At that time the University was host to educational leaders of Kentucky. All college and normal school presidents, with the exception of one or two who could not be present, were there. The teachers of Smith-Hughes agriculture, the officers of the State Department of Education, a number of prominent city and county superintendents, prominent business men, Alumni, faculty and students of the University attended. The Main Dining Room at the Seelbach Hotel was packed to capacity with 330 Kentuckians. The University Glee Club gave a program and stunts were performed by Tom Young and Wickliffe Moore, young artists from the University.

President McVey, Superintendent McHenry Rhoads, and Governor W. J. Fields vied with each other in holding before the audience a bigger and better Kentucky and in urging a united effort on the part of all the forces in the State to take up the slogan of a greater University and a greater Kentucky.

Many prominent school men expressed themselves to the effect that this was the most successful attempt in the history of the state to center attention of the educational forces on the idea that if Kentucky is to go forward educationally, agriculturally and economically the people of the State must catch the vision of a glorious commonwealth moving forward as one man to a higher goal, and that all of Kentucky's educational institutions, both public and private, should stand united with good fellowship and good will for each other, and for the future development of the State.

TWO NEW SUB-STATIONS TO BE ESTABLISHED SOON

One Will be Located in Eastern Section of State; Other in Western Portion.

The experimental work carried on by the College of Agriculture will soon be supplanted by two new substations provided by the last Legislature. According to Dean Cooper, of the College of Agriculture, the new stations in eastern and western Kentucky will make the work of the central station more effective and provide means to promote agricultural interests of the different regions.

The eastern station in Breathitt county, will be known as the Robinson sub-station, and will be located on a tract of 15,000 acres donated to the State for this purpose by E. O. Robinson, of Fort Thomas. The western station will be located in Caldwell county on donated territory not yet designated.

Dean Cooper states that the Robinson station will be devoted largely to work with forestry as it is peculiarly adapted to that work and because reforestation of timber production under private or corporate ownership is one of the vital problems of the State. In addition, attention will be given to agricultural problems of the mountain districts, which come under the heads of horticulture, orcharding, sheep and goat production, dairying, and production of grasses best suited to the mountain region. This station would prove as useful to forestry and timber production as the experiment station is proving in agricultural developments.

The western station will treat different problems suitable to its location, such as dark tobacco, cotton, grass crops needed for better pastures as well as orcharding and other pursuits studied at the central and eastern station.

AGS AND HOME ECS WILL HAVE THEIR DAY, MAY 9

According to information from officers of the Agricultural Society, the University Council has granted permission for an Ag Day to be held on the campus, Friday afternoon, May 9. A half holiday has been granted for the event.

For several days past, John Gramma, president of the Society, has been holding meetings with chairmen of various committees appointed for the affair, and great headway has been made with the program. All Ag and Home Ec students will have part in the staging of this gala event and, according to advance information it will be the most thoroughly prepared affair ever presented by the College and will give the University and the people of this part of Kentucky a better idea of the work being done by the College of Agriculture.

SENIORS, NOTICE!

After Tuesday, May 6, no orders will be taken for Senior rings. This is your last chance to get one.

The design has been changed from that of last year and shows up very attractively. The design is on display at the Book Store.

See John Shaw at the University Book Store. Will be there at the fifth hour every afternoon.

— and still they say college men don't study!

The critic who charges college men with lack of diligence never heard a freshman repeat his roll of fraternity chapters without a slip, or a senior dilate on the life history of every football captain from 1890 on.

Of course this takes study—sometimes too much study. The student must be cautioned against the mental strain resulting from concentration on too limited a field of thought.

It is a good thing to specialize, but not to the extent of becoming narrow. If it is right for the man who concentrates on engineering to be up on his campus activities, it would seem right for the man who is quoted on the history and philosophy of Comparative Baseball Scores to have some knowledge of the chemistry and thermodynamics from which he expects to make his living.

For it is still true that in industrial councils the talk sometimes swings from batting averages to coefficients of expansion and the hysteresis losses in iron.

This is all a matter of balance, and satisfactory mental balance is a means to an important end—satisfactory bank balance.
